BETTER FEELING OBSERVED IN MANY LINES OF TRADE.

pecially Comprehensive in the Footwear Business.

New York, Dec. 4.-R. G. Dun & Co.'s

weekly review of trade to-morrow Trade is seasonably quiet, except in the lines affected by weather, and those embracing holiday goods, which are in good demand.

Activity is especially comprehensive among footwar jobbers and retailers. Commodities are generally lower in price, although a few are generally lower in price, although a few are generally lower in price. are generally lower in price, although a se-important articles, such as cotton, eggs and dawy products, have risen so sharply that Dun's index number on December 1 was 98,221 against 97,825 a month previous. For the year there is a decline of about 2 per cent. Manufacturing conditions are still irregular, the best symptom of the week being the steadiness of iron and sieel.

Textile mills still find it difficult to secure prices in proper ratio to the raw material, the violent advance in cotton adding to the em-barrassment of spinners, who have only limited supplies on hand.

Light stocks of hard wood maintain prices, Railway callings in three weeks of November wie of 3 per cut larger than a year pievious. Several encouraging reports are received regarding the iron and steel situation. In most cases the proposed reduction in wages has met with no opposition, and such business as coined forward is handled without interruption. Another good sign is that the last week has brought no further reductions in prices. Steel mills have received several rair contracts for structural shapes and railway supplies. These are all evidences of an end to the deadlock between buyers and sellers, while in the trade there is a growing conflaence that the new year will bring a further revival. On the other hand, the market is decidedly quiet. The chief event in the export trade was a large sale of the plates for shipment to Canalia. Cotton mills have suffered further from the vagaries of the raw material, and the latest advances must have obliterated any profits secured by the reduction of wages. Failures this week, 331 against 253 last week, 163 the preceding week and 163 the corresponding week last year.

New York, Dec. 4.-Bradstreet's to-mor-

New York, Dec. 4.—Bradstreet's to-mot-row will say:

Better feeling, approaching optimism in some lines, is due to some improvement in retail trade, stimulated by cold weather, the advent of the holiday season and the more normal tone of public sentiment.

Jobbing trade in seasonable goods has also expanded as a result of reorders to fill depleted stocks.

Back of these, but with an apparently close connection in its effect upon sentiment, is the strong position of the agricultural staples, More confidence is also shown in the market for cruder forms of iron and prices are stead-ier. Some industries, notably flour milling in the Northwest, and shoe manufacturing in New England, are apparently in good shape, with record-breaking shipments noted for the season, but the advance in raw cotton is a matter of concern to the trade, where, indeed, the possibility of curtailment is being mooted. Readjustments of wages to meet new conditions are particularly prominent in cotton man-ufacturing and in Iron and steel, but are being ufacturing and in Iron and steel, but are being accepted with much less friction than earlier anticipated.

Wheat, including flour, exports for the week ending December 2, aggregated 4,201,504 bu, against 3,851,67 set week and 8,794,440 this week last year, 4,994,846 in 1901 and 3,422,150 in 1909. For twenty-two weeks of the flocal year they aggregated 72,92,259 bu, against 113,141,451 in 1902, 72,388,480 in 1901 and 77,43,584 in 1909. Corn exports for the week aggregated 1,085,351 bu, against 1,520,394 list week, 1,151,563 a year ago, 352,384 in 1901 and 5,371,577 in 1909. There will be three Elections committees and these contests will be apportioned among them. One will take four and the others three each. The testimony in each case was filed several months ago with the clerk of the House, and it is the duy of these committees to go over the testi-mony, examine exhibits, if there be any. of these committees to go over the testimony, examine exhibits, if there be any, and hear argument. In several cases the testimony is voluminous.

The first case likely to reach the House is that instituted by William Connell of Scranton, Pa., against George Howell (Dem.). Connell is a millionaire and has served in Congress for six years. A year ago last ful he was renominated by the Republicans and he made an arrangement with some Democratic leaders in the district by whom the Republican candidate was indorsed. Everything looked bright for Connell's return, but there happened to be a number of Democratic who refused to abide by the action of their party's convention and nominated Howell, who was forced to run as an independent Democrat, although a Democratic leader.

Howell fought the matter out single handed and was elected by about 400 majority. It was a crushing blow to Connell, and a great surprise to Democratic as well as Republicans. Connell decided to contest, because some voters had cast their ballots for Howell as a "Democratic candidate,"

REYNOLDS AGAINST BUTLER.

REYNOLDS AGAINST BUTLER.

Another interesting case is that of Reynolds, Republican, against Butler, Demo noids, Republican, against Butler, Democrat, of St. Louis. The outcome of this is uncertain, but the Republicans want to increase their majority, and there will not be a judicial hearing of any case.

The contest by Kahn, Republican, against Livernash, Union Labor and Democrat, of San Francisco, is also an important one. Mr. Kahn served in the Fifty-sight and Fifty-seventh Congresses, and was renominated for the Fifty-sighth. Livernash was nominated by the Union Labor Convention and indorsed by the Democrats upon the representation that he was a Democrat, sits on the Democratic side of the chamber, and attends the caucuses of that party, although now that he has a contest on his hands he asserts he is a member of the Union Labor party. Mr. Kahn's contest is based upon the allegation that defective ballots were counted for Livernash.

The contest of Joseph A. Conry against John A. Keliher is also an interesting one. Both men are Democrats, and the Boston district, which they seek to represent, is one of the strongest Democratic districts north of Mason and Dixon's line.

CONTESTS SIMS'S SEAT. crat, of St. Louis. The outcome of this is

F. M. Davis, Republican, is contesting the seat of Sims. Democrat, of the Eighth the seat of Sims. Democrat, of the Eighth Tennessee District. Mr. Sims has served three terms in the House and on the District Committee, where he is a valuable member, His majority is 900. The election law of Tennessee is involved in this contest.

The right of Shafroth of Denver to his seat is disputed by R. W. Bonyage, Republican, on the grounds of alleged frauds committed in Denver.

The contest brought against J. M. Gudger, Jr., of the Tenth North Carolina District was begun by his Republican opponent, J. M. Moody, who died before the evidence in the case had all been taken. Moody's friends are pushing the contest in the hope that the place may be declared vacant and a new election ordered.

There are two contests from Bouth Carolina, one against Legare, but there is little expectation that these two members will be disturbed.

The only instance where a Democrat is contesting the seat of a Republican comes from the Territory of Oklahoma, where William Cross disputes the title of Delegare B. S. Maguire.

Insurance about $250,000.

at $50,000. Insurance about $250,000.

The loss sustained by the hardware company is placed at $35,000, and that on the grocery company at approximately $25,000. Both firms are a part of the H. D. Lee Mercantile Company.

The fire started at $2:15 p. m. in the paper bag department on the fourth floor of the grocery company's building. A stiff north wind was blowing, and before the Fire Department, which proved entirely inadequate, arrived the entire building was in flames. Burning brands carried by the high wind, caught on houses in various parts of the town and dozens of citizens were forced to organize bucket brigades to save their homes. Aid was asked of Abliene, but the apparatus from that city arrived only after the fire had been placed under control at 3 o'clock.

H. D. Lee, upon whom the brunt of the loss will fall, was elected chairman of the Executive Committee of the Wholesale Grocers' Association of the United States. He originated the plan of having all the tobacco in the country handled through one purchasing agency. He came to Kansas Patron Chio in 1880.

BARRINGTON FILES MOTION TO CONTINUE HIS TRIAL

Asks That It He Set for January Term and Declares He Will Solve McCann Murder Mystery.

By that time, he states in his affidavit, he hopes to be able to clear the mywery attending inding a body in the Bonfils quarry, June 18, which was identified as that of McCann.

In the application Barrington states that he saw the body found in the quarry, and is of the opinion that it was not that of James P. McCann, but that, if it was, the killing was not done by him.

He states that he has been handicapped by the lack of funds with which to work in clearing up the mystery, and that 50 received from August Leo of Brookings, Ark., was all the money he has had since his incarceration in the Cayton jail.

McCann, it is stated, had, before his death, received letters from persons who threatened his life in an effort to extort money from him. Barrington mentions the name of a man in Hammond, Ind., as a writer of one of these letters, and says that his communication is now in the hands of Mrs. McCann. He has talked with McCann, he states, several times about these letters, and McCann gaid that he expected to meet his pursuers.

Referring to the Leo subscription, Barrington said that he believed that McCann had something to do with sending the money to him.

Although stating that he had only received 50. Barrington closes his affidavit with the statement that he now has means to get necessary evidence, and that his witnesses were not absent by his convivance.
